

New Victoria Hospital

- Case Study

xsign has worked with New Victoria Hospital, in South West London, on the development of a new internal signage and wayfinding scheme.

A series of 4mm backpainted frosted panels, suspended signs and directory boards on our patented jigsaw system feature throughout the medical practice in the organisation's branded purple colours.

In the atrium, 4mm frosted cut letters display the branding for the hospital reception area, helping to welcome visitors and patients in to the bright waiting area.
